IDENTIFYING IPV IN YOUR LGBT CASELOAD
(2 CEs open to all practice levels)

Wednesday, September 20, 2017
IDENTIFYING IPV IN YOUR ADOLESCENT CASELOAD
(2 CEs open to all practice levels)

Tuesday, November 7, 2017
IDENTIFYING IPV IN YOUR SUBSTANCE ABUSE CASELOAD
(2 CEs open to all practice levels)

Each workshop will address the dynamics of IPV and its intersection with other behavioral health problems. Information on screening and assessment tools will be provided, with opportunity for small group discussion and application of the tools to case scenarios. Stephanie Klotz, MSW, Professional Training Manager for JBWS, will lead each workshop.

IPV may not be the presenting problem in your cases, but its prevalence and consequences indicate the importance of screening and appropriate intervention.

- Over 60% of couples seeking marital therapy experience physical violence in their relationships and yet fewer than 10% of them spontaneously report or identify the problem.
- Between 67—80% of women in substance abuse treatment are victims of IPV.
- LGBT survey respondents report levels of IPV at rates equal to or higher than those of heterosexuals.
- Physical and sexual dating violence against adolescent girls is associated with increased risk of substance use, unhealthy weight control behaviors, sexual risk behaviors, pregnancy and suicidality.
